Pain is a warning that something is wrong that needs correction. To suffer any pain continuously in this modern age is unnecessary.

Modern dentistry is practically painless. New analgesics and tranquilizers can quickly ease any pain or relieve nervous tension. Never delay visiting your dentist at the first sign of any trouble.

Better yet, let your dentist check your teeth twice a year, and let him help you to prevent future pain.

Free Instruction In Ceramics

A few of the Girl Scouts who get instruction from Mrs. James Paparella in the fine art of ceramics are these youngsters from Troop 87. Standing are Judy Leadbitter, Margaret Brown, Nancy Inman, Mary Passanissi, Cynthia Kimball and Mrs. Anthony Puma, assistant troop leader. Seated are Margaret Kimball, Elizabeth Garison and Mrs. Paparella. (Leone)

An absorbing pastime for Mrs. James Paparella of 68 Elm st., has been her ceramics hobby - one which has grown to such proportions that there is now room for little else in the more than ample basement of the Paparella home.

Starting the hobby four years ago, Mrs. Paparella studied from anyone and everyone who taught or worked in "potter's clay." She has done some beautiful vases, dishes, ash trays, statuettes, etc., both from molds and also by working the clay by hand. The hand wrought pieces interest her most.

Carnegie Institute Presents 14 Artists At Abbot Gallery

An exhibition entitled "Carnegie Institute Presents 14 Artists" has opened at the John-Esther Art Gallery of Abbot Academy and will continue through April 30. The artists whose work is shown are Roger Anliker, Virgil D. Cantini, Marjorie Eklind, Robert E. Gardner, Anne Temeles Golomb, Gertrude Temeles Hall, Marie Tuicillo Kelly, Charles Le Clair, William C. Libby, Samuel Rosenberg, Tom Rowlands, Lisa J. Sternglass, Russell C. Twigg and Betty Voelker.

This exhibition, organized by the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh and now circulating throughout New England in various Museums and schools, presents the work of a group of young painters now residing in the Pittsburgh, Pa. area. The paintings were shown in Springfield at the Smith Art Museum and in December at the deCordova Museum in Lincoln where they created a good deal of interest.

All of the painters have achieved a noteworthy amount of success in the art world, locally, and several have been awarded prizes or citations of national acclaim. Several of the painters are at present on the faculty at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, one of America's leading institutions, and long known for its pioneering efforts in the promotion and exhibiting of contemporary art in the United States as well as abroad. This Institute has also given much encouragement to younger talented painters in its own area.

With the exception of two works of art, which are respectively a mosaic and an enameled piece in copper, the show consists of paintings in a wide variety of techniques but in style which for the most part tends toward expressionism and abstraction. The paintings are competently done and are for the most part very strong and forceful in color.

Bill Barnes Takes To The Air As Hobby And Lifetime Career

William Barnes, a lad with an eye to the future, plots airline courses at his home. Bill makes quite a hobby of flying, although he's still in high school.

A far-sighted young man, Bill Barnes, a junior at Punchard, certainly has his eyes on the future, as is shown in his hobby, flying.

Bill, having been interested in flying now for several years, has been aloft many times learning the basic fundamentals.

"The major drawback to aviation as a hobby," said Bill, "is its expense."

To offset this, Bill recommends membership in the Civil Air Patrol. This organization is sponsored by the Air Force to stimulate interest in aviation among youth. The Air Force supplies the C.A.P. with planes, and its members maintain them, thus bringing aviation within the reach of the average teenager.

To carry out his unique hobby, Bill plans to serve his military obligation with the Air Force, and put into practice some of the many interesting skills he has learned.

PHILLIPS GIVEN HUGE SUM

In making the additional gift to Andover, the trustees of the de Dombrowski Estate listed as reasons for increasing the Robinson Fund, the effective nature of the Andover Scholarship Program, the fact that Andover's tuition policy would enable a maximum number of boys to benefit from the Program and the strong support given to Andover by its alumni through both the Alumni Giving Campaign and capital gifts.

This is the second large gift for scholarship purposes which Andover has received in the past few months. In December, the Donner Foundation announced Andover as one of four schools to receive annual grants of $50,000 for scholarships in each of the next five years.

Commenting on these gifts, Headmaster John M. Kemper said, "Ever since its founding in 1778 this school has adhered to the belief that it should be open to youth of requisite qualification from every quarter. In these days when the population of school age youth has expanded so greatly and when the cost of living has risen so markedly it is doubly important that scholarship opportunities be offered on a wide scale. The grant of the Donner Foundation, and now this second generous gift of the trustees of the Estate of G. Louise Robinson de Dombrowski, hearten us to continue and develop further the scholarship policy enunciated by Andover's founders 179 years ago."

HOME FROM MED. CRUISE

Michael B. Cronin, senior apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Cronin of Cottage Farms Village, So. Main st., scheduled to arrive at North Andover, Va., this week aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Boston from a four-month cruise in the Mediterranean. In addition to her duties with the Mediterranean Fleet the Boston visited Naples and Genoa, Italy, Valencia, Spain; and Beirut, Lebanon.

No town summoning its citizens to the bitter conflict of April 19, 1775, better earned its right to celebrate "Patriot's Day" than Andover.

Four foot companies marched the distance to Cambridge that fine spring day — young Andover boys and men, and some aged men, too old to walk and unable to bear arms, rode to Cambridge to carry provisions for those who "stood in need."

In Sarah Loring Bailey's historical sketches of Andover during the period the local scene and season is aptly described thus: "April came in; a remarkably early spring covered the land with verdure, bringing tree and flower into blossom, and starting the tender grain, — the grass and grain and flowers soon to be trampled down by the tread of hurrying troops, and drenched with the blood of combatants."

"The farmers went to their labors in the field, as usual, but prepared at a minute's notice to quit them. The women did their household duties in a spirit of self-abnegation, awaiting the time when the duties would be unnecessary, the household being broken up. Life was real and intense in those days of waiting. At last the summons came. Who brought it — what messenger galloping through the night, neither history nor tradition tells; but old men remember how their fathers have described the ringing of the meeting-house bells in the early morning, April 19, 1775, the beat of the alarm-drum, the hurrying hither and thither of breathless messengers — how oxen were left standing in the field, ploughs in the furrow, the hammer dropped on the anvil, the shuttle at the loom, the corn left unground at the mill, the food untasted on the table — how men seized musket and bayonet, and with hardly a goodbye or a God-bless-you, were off."

First Powder Mill

But fighting a revolution with foot soldiers, armed with muskets but no powder, was a condition not long to be tolerated by the courageous and thinking elders of Andover. So, by the time winter of 1775 rolled around, the estimable Samuel Phillips Jr., Esq., built, at considerable personal expense what is believed to have been the country's first powder mill. It was located on the east side of the Shawshin river where the wooden building is now part of the Marland Mills.

At some distance from the mill were the dry house and magazine; the latter building standing very near the spot where Nathan Frye has recently built a house. Here gun powder was made and supplied to the soldiers of the Revolution. Two other mills sprang into existence shortly afterwards — one at Stoughton and the other at Bradford.

The Powder Mill was disastrously blown up three years later — on June 1, 1778, killing three Andover men, a Mr. Currier, Joseph Abbott and Josiah Johnson. The mangled bodies were taken to a house which stood near the Dillaway house, owned by William Bell, from where they were buried.

David Holt, who lived and had a blacksmith shop where the brick block now stands near Marland's factory, was mowing in a nearby field at the time of the accident. On hearing the report, Mr. Holt ran to the river and passed water to put out the fire. The exertion was said to have been the cause of Mr. Holt's contracting and acute case of rheumatism which crippled him for the rest of his life.

The blow caused some damage to the Holt home including the breakage of the glass and crockery; an exception was a looking-glass plate which was knocked from the frame and was afterwards found standing up in one corner of the room — a prized relic now preserved by descendants of the Holt family.

An explosion again took place October 17, 1796, killing two men, one 32-year-old David Hall who was buried in South Parish Burial ground.

Mrs. Bailey relates that "the winter of 1775 was a time of the deepest anxiety at Andover, as well as throughout the country. Aside from other sources of distress, the mere absence from home of so many able-bodied men was severely felt, perhaps even more so during the winter than it had been in the summer and autumn. They had been much missed in the planting and the harvest, but when the blocking snows set in, women and children on remote farms were in many instances cut off from the comforts and even the necessities of life, and shut in from the sympathy of friends and the tidings of the progress of events."

One matter on which all Andover families relied was that the Powder-mill of Andover was turning out about one thousand pounds weight of good gunpowder per week. That was a mental ease for many who had to "sweat it out" by the home fires.

Judge Phillips was truly Andover's man of the hour — a hero among many heroes to add deep meaning to Patriot's Day in "our Town".

GOURMET "STEALS"

BY
BETTY BLAISDELL

The traditional Easter feast of baked ham gets easier and tastier every year! Nowadays you just "dress" a ham . . . the curing, cooking, moisture and flavor sealing has all been done by exclusive and patented methods of the meat packers, and the only challenge left to the prideful cook is the way she dandies up the finished product.

Maybe some of us can get nostalgic about the Easter hams of yore . . . of the 24-hour soakings in two or three changes of water . . . then the three-hour boiling in half water and half cider, removing of skin (not the easiest thing in the world), then more hours of baking and basting right up to the bitter end of the final garnish.

Personally we like to forget all that!

Choose the Ham

Which shall it be? . . . the whole ham with shank in, the whole ham without skin and shank, the boneless rolled ham, or the canned ham in the best size to fit your family? Whichever you choose, the taste will be delicious. You have only to pop it into a 325 degree oven and bake till it's hot through and through, then if your ham has a rind, remove the rind from the oven, cut it off, score the fat, dot with cloves, apply your favorite glaze and return to a 400 degree oven for about another half hour.

PINEAPPLE-HONEY GLAZE (Mrs. Walter C. Tomlinson)

For a large ham Mrs. Tomlinson has a glaze that's a real taper for taste and looks, too. She takes a saucepan, mixes:

3 tbl. flour
1 tsp. dry mustard
3/4 cup syrup from can of pineapple chunks
1/2 cup honey
She cooks this until it thickens, then spreads it on the scored ham. No cloves . . . instead Mrs. Tomlinson fastens on (with toothpicks) pineapple chunks and maraschino cherries, then finishes up her baking in a hot oven, serves surrounded with watercress.

GRASS N' MUSHROOMS (This is hers, too)

If you had spinach ring last year, here's a fine change of vegetable to go with the Easter ham. The markets are full of nice back asparagus, and you'll need about:

1 1/2 lbs. "grass"
2 cups boiling water (watch it!)
1 tsp. salt
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 tsp. sherry
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. flour
1 cup milk

Clean and break up the asparagus for cooking, trimming off the woody fiber. These should be in about one-inch pieces which are boiled in the salted water for about eight minutes (saving out the tips). Then the tips are added and boiling is continued until the vegetable is tender. Meantime saute the mushrooms in about a tablespoon of butter, adding a bit of water so as to tenderize without too much browning, add salt and pepper, sherry and a touch of sweet marjoram. Pour off and save, then in the same pan make a roux with butter, flour and milk. When smooth and of a medium consistency add the mushrooms and adjust flavors to taste. Drain

Huge Lots An Absurdity

We hope all the voters will take a long, hard look at certain re-zoning proposals to come before a special town meeting next month.

While all the specific articles have not yet been listed, it is certain that two-acre house lots; re-zoning to one acre lots in some sections where that proposal has twice been defeated; and up-grading some other areas will be included.

While this special meeting has been designed to provide ample opportunity for zoning education — on the theory that zoning shouldn't be sandwiched in with other town business — it also offers the best opportunity for proponents of the measures.

It has amply been demonstrated in the past that proponents of measures coming up at a special town meeting do a lot of ground work ahead of time, getting all their support lined up for the session. Through dis-interest, incredulity that any such ideas could be adopted or for whatever other reasons, many voters fail to attend. Often, then, proponents find a special meeting more to their advantage than a regular meeting.

We don't attempt to take a stand on all the zoning articles nor do we believe that those favoring huge house lots should be prevented from presenting their point of view.

We do believe, strongly, that one and two acre lots are an absurdity — particularly the two-acre lot. We well remember, too, that opponents of the one-acre zoning last year warned that the two-acre lot would be the next step — and here it is.

There appears to us to be an attitude indicating a type of snobbishness involved in two-acre zoning, and, for that matter, in acre house lots as well. For many men and women are automatically prevented from coming to the town under such zoning regulations.

As the areas where smaller lots are permissible become built up, and they are fast getting to that point, the only available land for homes will be in these sections now proposed for acre and two-acre lots. A person with adequate means to buy a normal-size lot and build a decent, but not excessively expensive home, will be driven away.

If this community is to grow in a healthy manner, it must allow persons in all economic and social brackets to come and live. We submit that these huge lots will discourage this and harm the town in the long run.

The premise appears to be that Andover, though up-grading the zoning, can transform itself into an area like Westchester County in New York, where land and buildings have tremendous value and where persons without substantial means cannot afford to live. That philosophy, which will in all probability be stoutly denied by its adherents, is not in the best interests of Andover.

Good Luck!

Now that the Town Employees Association has completed its organizational activities, we want to extend a welcome to it — the newest organization in the community.

The formation of the Association is for the purpose of helping the employees to achieve certain goals — and to promote better understanding and cooperation among the employees themselves.

We wish the group luck in its work.

Too many motorists drive on the theory that you don't need good road habits if you drive a nice new car.

Any man who pays as he goes may not go far, but actually enjoys his trip twice as much.

A slight jolt knocks the ambition out of some people.

The Massachusetts State Department Conductress, she this year has accepted more installations of new officers than ever before.

She has been a state officer for seven years and served on many State Department committees. She has made head table and favor decorations for the annual banquets.

Among the many installations she has accepted this year are Methuen, Haverhill, No. Andover, Andover, Newburyport, Rowley, Ipswich and Danvers. She will assist at the Lawrence installation as the installing conductress Sunday.

Mrs. Folley is secretary-treasurer of Andover V.F.W. Auxiliary 2128 and served for 10 years as its treasurer. A military ball was the feature event for that evening and among those attending from Andover were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yancy, Mr. and Mrs. John Yancy and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Folley.

Mayor Hynes of Boston entertained the V.F.W. National Officers and Department Officers at a breakfast March 30.

The National Officers were also greeted at the open-department meeting held at the Bradford hotel that afternoon and in the evening.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — April, 1907

The first number of the Punchard Ensign, published by the members of Punchard School, appeared on Monday and presents a very attractive appearance. It is a 28-page paper made up in a magazine form with a pretty cover design drawn by Miss Florence Mears. This number is dedicated to Myron E. Gutterson, than whom there is no more loyal friend and supporter in the whole alumni.

A pleasant surprise party was held at the home of John Driscoll on High st. recently when James Donovan presented Mr. Driscoll with a handsome signet ring.

The storm Monday and Tuesday interfered with the running time on the car lines.

Among the changes in Allen's drug store is a large up-to-date soda fountain. A large electrical lamp supported by two polished arms is a very noticeable and pretty fitting. The fountain is of the very latest type.

A shirt waist party was given in Grange Hall last evening, the affair being conducted by C. L. Bailey, R. A. Watson, G. L. Averill and E. B. Thornton.

25 Years Ago — April, 1932

The South Church Parish is now a matter of history. Wednesday evening the old parish organization was merged with the church in a special meeting called to consider this particular question. The officers of the new incorporated church were elected as follows: Clark, Mr. Arnold; superintendent of the Sunday School, Thaxter Eaton; assistant superintendent, Louis Torrey; treasurer, Arthur W. Cole; assistant superintendent, Frank Petty; auditors, Dr. Percy J. Look and Fred E. Cheever.

The Abbott Village Hall, formerly the property of the Smith and Dove Company, is being torn down. For many years the hall ing Mrs. Charles Spinney, District President and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Folley attended the Department banquet for the National Officers at the same hotel.

Pilgrim Fellowship Going To New York

Members of South Church Pilgrim Fellowship will leave Andover Sunday by bus for a three-day visit to New York City.

The group will attend the morning worship service at South Church in a body, and leave at 12:30. While in New York the girls will stay at the Congregational Christian Service Center and the boys will stay at Sloane House, YMCA. A visit to United Nations Headquarters will be made on Monday. Other places of interest to be visited by the fellowship include Rockefeller Center and a performance of the Easter Pageant at the Music Hall, radio and television studios, the American Museum of Natural History and Hayden Planetarium, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Empire State Building, Saint Thomas Church, the Cathedral of Saint John the Divine and Riverside Church.

Tuesday evening the group will attend the television show "Name that Tune". Monday and Tuesday evenings will be spent at theaters attending plays and musicals to include "The Most Happy Fella", "Damn Yankees", "Ziegfeld Follies", "The Happiest Millionaire" and "Middle of the Night".

Officers of the Fellowship for the current season are Robert F.

10 Years Ago — April, 1947

As a result of an investigation regarding the advisability of installing traffic lights at Woburn square, a public hearing was called in the Court room Monday night with 20 residents of the village protesting against the project proposed by the state.

Miss Hope Hargreaves, Andover artist, took top honors for women entrants in coveted Roch Trophy ski races, held at Aspen, Colorado.

William E. Eastham and Joe Avery Jr., students at Brown University, were recently initiated into Delta Upsilon fraternity.

The year 1945 was by far the most successful in the history of the Andover Consumers Co-operative, Inc. In that year sales reached just under $150,000, an increase of almost 50 percent over 1945. At the same time, purchase of capital stock in the organization increased steadily, bringing the total capitalization close to $15,000.

The Phillippian, Phillis Academy's newspaper, and the Vindicator, the school's literary magazine, have again won prizes in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association's National Competition, according to a recent announcement. Both are printed at the Townsman Press.

State Approves Charter Revision

The Legislature has granted permission to the Andover Village Improvement Society to buy unlimited amounts of land for conservation purposes.

The Society asked for a change in its charter so it could obtain land here outside the former limit imposed by the Legislature. The change also gives the Society permission to give land to the town whenever it believes that move advisable.

The Society now owns the Indian Ridge Reservation and a tract of land in West Andover near Dascomb rd. Other small parcels of land are also owned by the organization throughout the town.

Harold R. Rafton, chairman of the Land Committee, has explained that land will be acquired for park and recreational purposes; and other parcels of swampy or marsh land will be sought to preserve for wild life and maintain the water table.

William N. Perry is head of the Membership Committee and is treasurer of the Society. President is Clifford E. Marshall.

CANCER DRIVE UNDERWAY HERE

The campaign began April 1 with the solicitation of advanced gifts by a committee headed by Melvin Weiner. Assisting Mr. Weiner as precinct captains are Guy P. Howe, Richard Lally, Gerry Lebach, Lawrence Soule and Robert Hulburd. George B. Lister and David Market are in charge of Business and Industry and Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Bradford are chairmen of the committee on Clubs and Organizations.

The campaign for funds will culminate April 30 when a two-hour house-to-house drive will be conducted by over 300 volunteer workers. Serving as precinct captains for this solicitation are Mrs. Boyd Bellinger, Mrs. Alfred Fuller, Mrs. John Gorrie, Mrs. William Mackintosh, Mrs. Henry C. Neunzer and Mrs. Robert Prochazka. More workers are needed for this phase of the campaign and volunteers are needed to contact any of the captains.

Speaking of the importance of the drive, Mr. Halliwell said, "This year in particular, it is vital that this community along with every city and town in the state, do its utmost to assure meeting our goal. Cancer research — the one means whereby an eventual cure for cancer might be discovered — needs our financial support. The public also needs the education which the American Cancer Society can provide."

The Memorial Library is contributing to the Cancer educational drive with a special display of facts and reading material which the public is invited to examine. Next week cancer movies will be shown at times and places to be announced, and will be narrated by local doctors who have volunteered their services to explain the movies and answer all questions the general public will have. The TOWNSMAN will carry this information next week.

Mr. Halliwell emphasized that the goal of this year's drive is summed up in the campaign slogan "Fight Cancer With A Check And A Checkup."

WATER EXTENSION WOULD COST $18,600

The total job would run to $18,600 according to consulting engineer Joseph C. Lawler. This is for installing a water main from Summer st. to the Braeland Development, for providing water to Merrimack College and to better serve upper Elm st., all of which involves 3100 feet of pipe.

More information regarding types of buildings to be constructed at the College — number of students to be housed in the dormitories and number of lavatories, etc., will be sought from the Very Rev. Vincent J. McQuade, O.S.A., president of the College, who last week came before the Board and requested information. The Board and the painting and decorating of the finished pieces (after firing).

then suggested a meeting with Fr. McQuade soon, when cost estimates would be available.

Lately Mrs. Paparella has extended her hobby to the teaching of various Girl Scout and Brownie troops and opening up her workshop to them. She oversees all of their work, supplying the paints used and doing the two firings — the bisque and glaze.

With the young Brownies, Mrs. Paparella allows all the freedom they want for painting, for the paints are of the poster variety and can be washed out of clothing. When the girls achieve the designs to suit them, Mrs. Paparella varnishes to "set" the colors.

Some of the unusual effects Mrs. Paparella achieves can be seen in the foyer of the Memorial Hall Library this week.

Bakery Sale Will Aid Boy Scouts

Boy Scout Troop 72 of the Free Church will hold a bakery sale April 13 at Hill's Hardware on Main st. from 9-12.

Proceeds of the sale will help send boys from the Troop to the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. this summer. Donations of bakery items may be left at the store Saturday morning.

Service Club

"Juvenile Delinquency" will be discussed tonight at the Andover Service Club meeting.

Judge William A. Daly, justice of the Lawrence District Court, will be the speaker, following the 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Andover Inn.

League Dislikes

State Agenda Item

Expressions of dissatisfaction by the local League of Women Voters to that of the State Board Proposed Agenda for 1957 have been sounded by local League president, Mrs. David T. Shaw, and other local board members.

The State Board's agenda does not include three items of which had received the largest number of votes from all the Leagues in the State. Taxation, Education, and Health. Instead the State Board has selected Conservation and Parole System. When asked to explain the inconsistency, the Board claimed that it was possible to consolidate the items submitted by the local Leagues into one item that was acceptable to all.

The local Board has written to all the Leagues in the State to see if they would be interested in backing a Taxation item, with the feeling that it is sufficient interest in Taxation, it will go to the State Convention and propose the Taxation item which has received the largest number of votes from the Leagues.

The State Convention will be held in Springfield, Mass., May 15, and it is expected that a large group of Andover Leagues will attend.

Wide Experience In Athletic Field

The School Committee last week appointed Donald D. Dunn as athletic director at Pynchard High School. A quick look at his background indicates the extensive experience he should bring to the new post.

Mr. Dunn started his athletic career while a student in Bradford High School, where he was a three-letter sportsman in football, basketball and track. Entering Springfield College, he played football, track, soccer and also went in for gymnastics and wrestling.

To aid in his college tuition he worked at East Hampton High School as coach of baseball and soccer, leaving college at the end of his sophomore year to aid his brother in starting college by working as full time director of physical education and athletics, also coach of baseball and basketball.

After a period of two years, Mr. Dunn returned to Springfield College for his junior and senior years, but filled his extra-curricular hours, first in his junior year as coach of soccer at Williston Academy, and in his senior year as full time physical director at Westfield Y.M.C.A. In 1931 he was graduated with a B.P.E. degree.

The following summer Mr. Dunn attended summer school, taking courses in baseball and basketball at the Knute Rockne School at Springfield, studying under Chivney, one of Rockne's greatest blocking backs.

After two more summer sessions Mr. Dunn won his Bachelor of Science degree. All the while, however, he was assisting Dr. Peter B. Carpvitch, physiology professor.

Taking a job at Fairhaven, Mass., as director of physical education and athletics, Mr. Dunn coached football, basketball, baseball, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, gymnastics, girls basketball, and directed an intra-mural program for elementary and high school classes. This he did creditably for a period of six years, having demonstrated at all the state physical education conventions.

Here In 1936

While at Fairhaven, its superintendent, Charles Pryor, steered Mr. Dunn to Andover as new ground for a physical education program. Thus Mr. Dunn received an appointment to come to Andover in 1936.

Taking charge of all physical education in both elementary and high school grades, he is credited with having started basketball as a varsity sport and in the second and third year of its existence his teams won the upper Merrimack Valley Championship with tournaments held at the home ground. He also started fall cross-country and winter track, coming out with a fine team.

Mr. Dunn assisted Walter Roberts, now in the Methuen school system, for two years as football coach.

He has been a member of the New England Basketball Officials Association as an official for a period of 25 years and has refereed in several local leagues for the Association for 30 years.

Naval Career

Entering the service in 1941, Mr. Dunn joined the first naval district on its special service program. In 1942 he was special service officer at the training station in Newport, R.I., and while there he was in charge of all athletics and recreational facilities. He designed the first obstacle course put up at Newport, and received the commendation of the Navy department for work with the Officers' Training School. Also while there he edited material for Navy combat personnel.

From Newport, Mr. Dunn was transferred to Northern Ireland where he was in charge of the athletic and recreational program as liaison officer with the British. Transferring to the T. D. Robertson Operational vessel, he was in Normandy during the invasion at Utah Beach. Later he was officer in charge of the U. S. Navy Personnel ashore and liaison officer, working with the mayors in France.

Coming out of the service in 1946, Mr. Dunn returned to Andover to recommence his physical education program here. This time his boys competed initially in the Interscholastic Gymnastics Championships. He was at the time still coach of basketball and track, but relinquished his coaching due to the increase of other duties including Youth Center work and summer swimming at Pumps Pond.

Always working to build a Physical Education program, Mr. Dunn at this time was handling the load with one assistant.

Recalled to Duty

He was recalled to duty in 1951 for the Korean conflict, going to Hawaii as director of special services for the 8th Naval District, setting up an athletic and recreational program for the district.

In 1953 Mr. Dunn was transferred to Northern Africa, serving on the Commandant's staff as senior shore patrol officer for the area.

Released from active duty in 1953, Dunn again returned to Pynchard to assume his old position in the Physical Education Department.

Mr. Dunn originated the idea of a Church Basketball League in Andover and was in charge of it until his call to service for a first time.

In accepting the new directorship of Athletics, Mr. Dunn promises no change in policy. He will have, however, a hand to fully organize the programs.

Building Boom Proven With 10-Year Figures

The tremendous growth in building construction during the 10 years was amply demonstrated this week when Building Inspector Ralph W. Coleman tallied year costs for that period.

From less than one dollar in total building cost in 1947, the figure has risen to a peak of $1,373,000 in 1955. That figure includes new high schools.

By years, the records show following steady increase: $789,600; 1948: $1,071,000; 1949: $1,537,000; 1950: $2,000,000; 1951: $2,000,000; 1952: $2,000,000; 1953: $2,000,000; 1954: $2,000,000; 1955: $1,373,000.

Communist Art Displayed Here

Modern Communist painting is the subject of a small exhibit current at the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy.

Displayed in the form of colored postcards which were recently obtained in Moscow, they are contrasted with modern art by artists from Austria, England, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and the United States. The exhibit is concerned with a lesson which is important to understand, but which many people do not seem to be aware of, namely, that art produced in a land where thought is controlled and opportunity regimented cannot be creative, but is trite and uninspired, technical skill notwithstanding. The vigorous personalities illustrated in the contrasting colored cards of the art of the Free World are, because of the variety of the personal approach, vivid testimony to the essential requirement of a democracy: freedom of inquiry and freedom of expression. The exhibit will continue through April.

Communist Art
Displayed Here

Modern Communist painting is the subject of a small exhibit current at the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy.

Displayed in the form of colored postcards which were recently obtained in Moscow, they are contrasted with modern art by artists from Austria, England, France, Germany, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and the United States. The exhibit is concerned with a lesson which is important to understand, but which many people do not seem to be aware of, namely, that art produced in a land where thought is controlled and opportunity regimented cannot be creative, but is trite and uninspired, technical skill notwithstanding. The vigorous personalities illustrated in the contrasting colored cards of the art of the Free World are, because of the variety of the personal approach, vivid testimony to the essential requirement of a democracy: freedom of inquiry and freedom of expression. The exhibit will continue through April.

Plans 38 Wells For House Lots In By-Pass Area Sub-Division

There's nothing unusual about having a well dug for a home where there's no town water. How else? But when it comes to planning a whole development of 38 house lots, each to have its own well and septic tank, it is a matter of some conjecture.

At least it was for the Board of Public Works at its regular meeting Monday night in Town Hall.

A plan of land, belonging to developer Roy R. Farr, was passed from the Planning Board to the Board of Public Works for comments and recommendations. The lots, ranging from 44,000 sq. ft., to 91,120 sq. ft., are planned in a heavily wooded area on the further side of the By-Pass off Wildwood road, 12 lots of which back on to the new road.

After studying the plan, the Board could see no drainage problem since drainage would be kept away from Wildwood rd. with a catch basin feed to one main brook. However, all members looked dimly on the situation because of questionable sewage pollutions, fire hazards and possible future pressures to connect to the town's water mains & but these will be matters for other departments to hassle over, the Board concluded.

SPECIAL MEETING ON MAY 13

High School section may all be included.

However, any articles requesting appropriations must be certified as of emergency nature by both the Selectmen and Finance Committee under terms of a by-law adopted at the annual town meeting. The Taxpayers Association sponsored that by-law, explaining their belief that all but emergency items should be considered at the annual session.

Specific articles have not yet been listed by the Planning Board to encompass the zoning changes it feels desirable at this time. But it is known that two-acre lots in a large West Andover section; one-acre lots in some other areas of West Andover and up-grading some other sections within the present zones will be sought. A business section at the relocated Route 28 will be considered.

Hearings on zoning changes will be held by the Board prior to May 13, but whether a single hearing for all the changes or hearings on each item will be held has not yet been announced.

The structure, of traditional design, will be placed on the now-vacant lot next to the Free Church on Elm st., formerly owned by the Doherty trust. Designed by James H. Ritchie and Associates, the building will be of masonry with a red clay brick exterior. It will have one floor and basement, where a power plant and heating facilities will be provided for the automatic equipment on the ground level.

Construction will start this spring, with the hope that the installation of dial equipment can begin by late fall of this year.

Current plans call for the transfer and absorption of present employees into the Lawrence system. Maintenance and repair men, to keep the plant in operation, will be the only necessary employees here once the system is put into effect.

Holders of private and two-party lines will be able to call many distant points directly, once the equipment is installed. Manager Frank Desmond explained that the points to which calls may be made will be determined by the frequency with which present subscribers call those points.
